Dr. RICHARD SAPINGTON, one of Baltimore's oldest and most reliable physicians, says:

Vance, (Entered at the Postoffice at Alexandria, Virginia, as second-class matter.)

Senator Sebastian, of Arkansas was a native of Hickman county, Tennessee. On and at a time when the girls had superior advantages, and were therefore superior in culture to the boys. I fixed the day as far as I could have it put off. I lay awake in a cold prespiration as the time drew near, and shivered with agony as I thought of the terrible ordeal.

with the programme somehow in a dazed, confused, mechanical sort of way, like an automaton booby through a supper where I could cat nothing, and through such games as "possum pie," "Sister Procee," and all that sort of thing. The gues some by one departed, and my hair began to stand on end. Beyond the awful curtain of Isis lay the terrible unknown. My blood grew cold and boiled by turns. I was in a fever and then an ague, pale and flushed by turns. I felt like fleeing to the woods, spending the retired, the family gone to bed, and I was left alone; horror of horrors, alone with the old man. "John," said he, "you can take that candle; you will find your room just over this. Good night, John, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul," and with a mischievous twinkle of his fine gray eye the old man left the room. I mentally said, when I heard him close a distant door, staggered to my feet and seized the farthing dip with a nervous grasp. I stood for some minutes contemplating my terrible fate, and the inevitable and speedy doom about to overwhelm me. I knew it could not be avoided, and yet I hesitated to meet my fate like a man. I stood so long that three love letters had grown on the wick of the tallow dip and a winding sheet was decorating the side of the brass candlestick.

A happy thought struck me. I hastily climbed the stair, marked the position of the landing and the door of the bridal chamber. I would have died before I would have disrobed in that holy chamber, where awaited me a trembling and beautiful girl, a blushing maiden "clothed upon" with her own beauty and her snowy robe denuit. I would make the usual preparations without, blow out the light, open the door and friendly night would shield my shrinking modesty and bashfulness and grateful darkness at least mitigate the horror of the situation. It was soon done. Preparations for retiring were few and simple in their character in Hickman, altogether consisting of disrobing, and owing to scarcity of cloth in these days nan was somewhere near the Adamic state when he was prepared to woo sweet sleep. The dreadful hour had come: I was ready I blew out the light, grasped the door knob with a deathly grip and a nervous clutch; one moment and it would be over. One moment and it wasn't over dy a d-n sight. leaped within, and there around a glowing hickory fire, with candles brightly burning on the mantel and bureau, was the blushing bride, surrounded by the six lovely bridesmaids.—Lousiville Commercial.
